Dear  25X1A5a

You may have seen an account in the papers recently of Mr. Dulles' statement to the Joint Economic Committee of the Congress concerning comparative U.S. and Soviet growth rates. I thought you might be interested in seeing the full text of his testimony. This presentation embodies our latest thinking on the subject of Soviet economic growth and also shows in some degree the intimate relationship between intelligence and policy.

Dear Bob:

Although I expect you have seen newspaper accounts of the Director's recent statement before the Joint Economic Committee, I thought you might be interested in seeing a verbatim account of his testimony, if you have not already seen it.

Best wishes,

25X1A9a /s/

P.S.

I am sorry to say we have not come up with any positive prospects for your Institute before now. However, there is one possibility who is now living and working here in Washington on the Council of Economic Advisors staff by the name of Hal B. Lary. For several years Lary was Director of the Research Division in the Secretariat of the US Economic Commission for Europe in Geneva. He is an American, about 45, possibly a year or two over it, whom I know personally and for whose professional prowess I have a rather high regard. In a recent conversation he indicated a developing disenchantment with working conditions in the CEA and it is just possible you might be able to pry him loose. His address is 1604 44th Street, N.W., Washington, D.C.
